DEAD FISH ATTRACT, SPAWN FLY HORDES

Live Flies

Large, clumsy flies have bred by the thousands at Buffalo Lake, the site last month of a mass fishkill. The decaying fish have made good breeding grounds for the flies, which cling to vegetation surrounding the lake (right). Much of the dead fish has been piled along the east shore of the lake to rot in the sun (below).

City Concerned About Tax Office Personnel

Top-level personnel for a proposed joint City of Canyon-Canyon Independent School District tax office has apparently become a point of contention—at least as far as the city is concerned.

City Commissioners reiterated Monday morning their desire that a well-qualified and full-time tax assessor be hired to assume responsibility of the tax office.

Mayor Paul Lindsey told commissioners at the special session that school board members "want to go on with the one (tax assessor-collector) they have and get an assistant."

A proposed tax office merger had previously been agreed upon by both the commission and the school board pending contract negotiations.

The mayor said the school board expressed its view last week at a special meeting called to consider the contract.

Lindsey said he felt the school board wanted to keep its present assessor-collector, Conway Kuykendall, hire an assistant and hire a professional appraising firm to do specific jobs for the joint office.

"Conway by his own admission is not qualified," Commissioner Ken Olsen said. Kuykendall had previously told a special tax study committee he felt himself qualified as a collector but not as an appraiser.

Commissioners Jim Christopher and H. R. Fulton said there should be no misunderstanding about the city commission's feelings on the hiring of a well-qualified appraiser to run the tax office.

"I had assumed we had made a strong statement on the appraiser," Fulton said, speaking of earlier tax study committee meetings.

"If they plan to do what you say they're going to do, we'd better not go along with them," Olsen said. "We should just keep our taxrolls and hire a

Pests Plague Umbarger

BY CARROLL WILSON
Buffalo Lake, its shores rimmed with dead and decaying fish, has turned into a breeding ground for thousands of flies which are plaguing the surrounding area.

Since the killing of several tons of carp at the lake in early May, flies and the odor of decay have increased, according to several residents in and around Umbarger. The town is about two miles from Buffalo.

Lack of adequate funds to dispose of the dead fish following the fish kill May 5 may have played a part in the lingering smell and abundance of flies.

However, Paul Ferguson, manager of the Buffalo Lake refuge, said Wednesday aerial spraying to kill the flies is to begin Friday morning.

Spurred by several complaints from Umbarger residents earlier this week, the Canyon News visited Buffalo Lake and found decaying carp in piles along the east shoreline. Along the west shoreline, dead fish lay as they had washed ashore.

Small bushes, blades of grass and even bare ground in the immediate water line vicinity were covered with large flies.

Dr. Dudley Moore, Randall County health officer, said he received a complaint about the flies Tuesday and called the county health office in Amarillo.

The Amarillo office sent a man to the lake and he initiated the call for spraying.

One Umbarger resident said the small town came under a "siege of flies Monday afternoon."

"They swarmed in here like

Area Wheat Crop Good; Price Low

Wheat prospects look good here this year as far as the crop is concerned but the price is something else.

Some farmers expect to begin harvest within the next 10 days to two weeks although some may come in late next week.

Wheat was $1.17 a bushel on the market here Tuesday. The loan is expected to be a little higher, $1.20 to $1.25 a bushel—depending on protein content.

A number of Canyon wheat farmers pastured their crop out and will not be harvesting this year because of the price situation.

Row crop prospects are also good in the county after abundant rain during the month of May, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

He estimates that most activities are about 10 days ahead of schedule.

He said grain sorghum has been planted and is up on about 35,000 acres of irrigated land. Corn for ensilage was planted in late April and early May and is now in the four to six leaf stage.

Much dryland grain sorghum also has been planted, as much as a month earlier than usual.

Brazzil said about 25,000 acres of irrigated wheat looks good although some farmers are

Tragedy Strikes Planks Again

For the third time this year tragedy struck the E. E. Plank family Tuesday.

Mrs. Plank, Canyon, was seriously hurt in a two-car accident 3 miles west of Canyon on Highway 60. Also injured, less seriously, was Bill Rogers of Amarillo.

Mrs. Plank, 81 years old, was crossing the highway southward when her auto was struck and overturned by a car driven by Rogers, 35, who was traveling west.

"I don't think she even saw me," Rogers related of the accident.

Highway Patrolman Bill Clifton said the Rogers vehicle skidded about 132 feet before hitting Mrs. Plank's car.

Clifton said the Rogers car had been drastically slowed by the time it collided since it traveled only about 20 feet from the point of impact.

He said the Plank car overturned almost at the point of impact and remained in the intersection. Both cars were demolished.

Each of the drivers was riding alone.

Mrs. Plank suffered fractures of the collar bone, ribs and pelvis and lacerations. Her condition was described as satisfactory Wednesday at Neblett Memorial Hospital.

Rogers was treated for laceration above the left eye and bruises and was dismissed from the hospital.

The accident occurred about 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Rogers credits the seat belt he was wearing with saving his life or at least sparing him more serious injury.

"I'm a believer in seat belts now," he said. "I had mine on just as tight as I could get it."

One of the Planks' sons, John, was fatally injured earlier this year when he was struck in the head by a jack handle while

Risner's D-Day --Hell, Confusion

BY CARROLL WILSON
Confusion and pure Hell reigned through the night of June 5-6, 1944, and Jim Risner of Canyon still remembers it 25 years later.

The sky, ablaze with German greetings, showered paratroopers and gliders, their bodies silhouetted by each explosion, throughout occupied France.

Planes, trailing gliders on slender guide lines over the English Channel, brought the first wave of Allied manpower onto the European continent in what was called a monumental military move—the Normandy invasion.

For the paratroopers and men inside the gliders—men of the 101st Airborne, the 82nd, and an English division—the beaches of Normandy were not the D-Day goal. It was not their task to storm Omaha.

They were to begin their work inside—and fight the Germans outward toward the beaches.

It was five minutes to midnight June 5 when Sgt. Risner and 11 other men of his squad landed in a glider far from their intended drop zone but well inside France.

Risner remembers the weeks of suspense prior to the invasion and he remembers the night itself. It was his first experience in actual war.

He was 23 and had been drafted. For a year, he'd been trained as a paratrooper in the 101st Airborne.

After war games and intensive training in Tennessee, Risner and the division went to England where more training was encountered—training which was in reality dress rehearsal for the coming invasion.

The weeks prior to the invasion were tense for Risner.

"We knew we were going to France, but we didn't know when," he said. "We knew there was going to be an invasion. There had to be. They weren't bringing all those men in there for nothing."

But, the weeks passed and on June 4, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower visited the 101st Airborne.

"He said a few words and shook everybody's hand," Risner said.

It was then that the men of the 101st knew the invasion was imminent. A heavy guard surrounded the division's area so word wouldn't leak out about the time and place.

Risner said on June 5, the men were called in, shown maps of the terrain, bridges, German supplies and men, and the drop zones.

The men were charged with the job of blowing the bridges and hitting the larger guns in France's interior to ease pressure on the beach-head invasion.

The 101st was to land near Carentan and then make its way to Cherbourg, destroying bridges and gun emplacements as it moved.

The night was moonless. When the planes and gliders crossed the English Channel, the Germans were waiting. Flak was so thick

Auto Complaint Faces County

Commissioners court received a complaint Monday because all motor vehicles in the county are not being taxed equally.

H. P. Davis, 4300 Monroe in Amarillo, said he is refusing to pay county taxes on a pickup truck because he has two other motor vehicles which are not being taxed. He had notices indicating he owes a total of $6.48 on the vehicle involved.

"I'll pay all my taxes," said Davis, "when you tax my other two cars and all the other motor vehicles in the county. Until I am taxed equally with everyone else I'm not going to pay it."

Commissioners explained that every family is allowed one car tax free. Members of the court also complained that vehicle tax is a difficult tax to collect.

Davis told the court he received a "nasty" letter from the criminal district attorney's office about delinquent taxes on his pickup.

"If a sincere effort is not going to be made to collect the tax, why not dispose of it so Mrs. Bruse (tax assessor-collector) won't have to send notices and the criminal district

School Board Okays Plans For Jr. High

The Canyon School Board approved last week final plans and specifications for the construction of a new junior high school in the city.

Supt. of Schools Jerry Jacobs said the architects, Shiver & Megert of Amarillo, submitted the final plans.

Last week's action was the culmination of almost a year's planning on the new school, which is to be constructed at the site of the present junior high school.

The architects were also instructed to accept bids on the construction. Jacobs said bids will probably be opened June 26.

The building is projected to cost about $1 1/4 million.

Jacobs said two alternates will be submitted to bidders—one for the school's auditorium and the other for blacktopping.

Several weeks ago, the architects reported to the school board that because of spiraling construction costs it might not be possible to build the school within the amount allowed.

In other action last week, the board instructed their attorney to decide the legality of a board decision to prorate the tax rate for residents of the former Umbarger Common School District, which recently was consolidated with the Canyon district.

B.R. Cooper Buys City Super Mkt.

Benny Rex Cooper has bought Cooper's Market from Clay and Ermyle Cooper.

Sale price was not disclosed. The transaction became effective June 1.

Benny Cooper, who has been manager of the supermarket for the past 10 years, said the name would remain unchanged.

Benny grew up in the grocery business and even as a small boy worked for his father, John, in the family store at McLean.

"One of my earliest memories is of sacking groceries in the McLean store," Benny declares. Benny's father operated the store in McLean from 1932 until 1951 and then moved to Tucumcari, N. M., where he still is in the grocery business. Benny attended the University of Texas where he took a degree in business. He served as a captain in the US Air Force. His wife, Marjorie, is a native of Tucumcari.

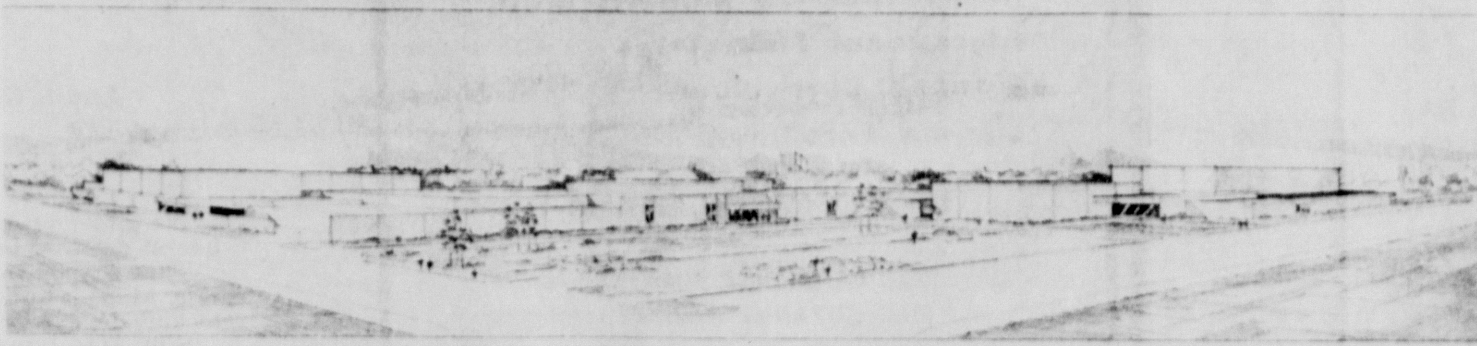

The Coopers moved to Canyon in 1958. Benny is a past president of the Kiwanis Club and has worked in Little League. He also has served as vice president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

While paying lip service to civil rights and equal opportunity, federal agencies practice blatant discrimination against thousands of young job seekers every day.

One of the latest victims is a young West Texas State University student who is being denied employment at Buffalo Lake Refuge solely because she cannot meet any of four qualifications laid down in federal youth employment guidelines.

She is not a Negro. She is not a Mexican. She is not an Indian and her parents have not taken a pauper's oath.

The person in question is a 22-year-old coed who is courageously determined to get her education without becoming beholden to anyone. She is a junior and has fair grades.

She has a high IQ and a desire to work. She has been willing to do the most menial labor to keep in school.

For a long period she even waited tables at a cafe on the midnight shift and attended classes during the day.

She applied for employment at the refuge and was interviewed by Refuge Manager Paul Ferguson. Ferguson said she appears to be qualified for the work in every way except in the four categories mentioned.

"We've been pushed and pushed on this," said Ferguson. "The guidelines keep saying, 'You've got to hire minorities! You've got to hire minorities!'"

"So we decided to go along with some one who is 16 to 22 and needy and not just walk out and hire anyone."

Ferguson said such people come from families with incomes of less than certain specified amounts. For instance, a family of five with an income of $3,900 or less would fall into the category of being needy.

I maintain that discrimination against this young student is just as vicious and just as evil as racial discrimination.

What kind of a future will this country have if we allow economic discrimination on such a scale against young people whose only crime is a desire to be self supporting?

I am forwarding this column to Congressman Bob Price.

I think the merits of this discrimination by a federal agency should be aired in a federal court.

Maybe we could learn whether civil rights and equal treatment under the law is the heritage of all Americans or reserved only for minorities and the indigent.

Right now Ferguson has Canyon High School officials studying student files in an effort to find some one who is needy.

Canyon is an affluent community and it may be rather hard to fill the job at Buffalo Lake refuge without importing someone to do it.

University administrators appear not to realize that something much bigger than control of universities is at stake in dealing with leftist campus insurrection.

Actually, the goal of these revolutionists is eventual takeover of the entire country.

Almost every set of "non-negotiable" demands include one for student participation in choosing curriculum, faculty and administration of the university involved.

Campus leftists piously declare that those whose lives are affected have a right to a voice.

The revolutionists couldn't care less about student participation as such. If they can get government and university authorities to admit that students have a right to this participation, then they have won respectability and eventual acceptance of the demand they were interested in in the first place.

If they can make the rule apply at Berkeley then why wouldn't it apply at General Motors? The lives of the people who work for General Motors are affected by what GM does.

The rule would allow employees to set pay scale, working hours and even to decide on model changes.

People who subscribe to a newspaper could as logically decide on the editor, news content and editorial policy of that publication.

The real goal of these revolutionists is to prostrate the country and seize her power to produce intact.

On the funny side: Canyon Coach Jim McAlpin tells about a coach at Muleshoe named George Washington placing a collect call to a coach at Morton named John Paul Jones.

"You gotta be kidding," replied the telephone operator who was savvy about her American history.

George Washington is still at Muleshoe. John Paul Jones is now superintendent of schools at Anton.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN
It looks as if the paranoid, schizophrenic, black militants have been given just about enough rope to hang themselves. For the safety of our nation, and the welfare of millions of decent, God-fearing, law-abiding, productive black Americans, let's hope they have.

When James Forman, head of the Black Economic Development Conference, BEDC, made his ridiculous blackmail demands of reparations from white churches, he was simply carrying on the Communist tradition. Remember how the Russians converted their beautiful cathedrals into pig stys to show their utter contempt for God and His Church?

In the first place, Forman is a little mistaken in his history. It was not white people who originally enslaved his ancestors, but African Chiefs who sold their own people--and any neighbors they could catch--into bondage. (Why not seek reparations from their posterity?) No one was more unhappy over the abolition of legal slavery than the African rulers. Slaves were their greatest source of income.

Forman is also in error in that "peace in Africa" statement. Native tribes have always warred on each other. The current conflict between Nigeria and Biafra is a good example.

In 1822, the first freed American slaves were returned to Africa. They did not, however, return to their native tribes, but to Liberia, a free area provided by white men. Was this not reparations?

At the cease-fire of the Civil War, Negroes were offered a bonus and free passage if they would return to Africa. That relatively few accepted the offer should be eloquent testimony that the Negroes knew they were better off in America.

African Negroes have the lowest standard of living in the world; and slavery still flourishes there. The poorest American Negro lives in freedom and luxury compared to the average black African.

If all the work black Americans have ever done for white Americans was compared--hour for hour--with all the work the whites have done for the blacks, it would probably show that the whites have done far the most "slaving."

Almost all the schools and hospitals in Africa were established by white missionaries. The majority of Negro colleges are supported by white churches. Are not the vast majority of such Negroes ministered to by white doctors and nurses?

Buying? Selling? Use the classified advertising pages of The Canyon News. Telephone 655-2141.

What about the approximately 50% of American Negroes on welfare--some of them for 3 and 4 generations; are not white people providing their living? What do they do for the whites in return? The black slaves at least got food, clothing, and shelter; the white ones only get threats and insults.

The Communists are determined to get a Trojan Horse into America. They tried unsuccessfully to trap the Jews, and then union labor, into serving their cause; both were too smart to take the bait. Now they are certain they have hit pay dirt with the Negroes. Every American Negro should be outraged at the insult to his intelligence.

Communists have a carefully devised scheme to get the Negroes to destroy American industry from within the plants. In the process, of course, all black Americans would be annihilated. (That would take care of the Communists' problems of disposing of their Trojan Horse.) But the resulting chaos would give the communist hordes an opportunity to invade the U. S. and eliminate the people without destroying the country--which is their ultimate goal.

Any one who questions the validity of this scheme should read The Crusader Newsletter published by Robert F. Williams; an American Negro exile in Peking, China. (Williams is the President of New Africa--to be established in the U. S.) Part of Williams' blueprint for the destruction of America is reprinted in The American Legion Magazine, October, 1968.

The black militants intend to burn America to the ground. They readily admit the whites who have supported black demands--however ridiculous--will have to be destroyed along with the rest of us.

The Negroes were helpless in 1861, but if they allow themselves to be made the scapegoat again they have only themselves to blame.

Unless Americans, black and white, face up to truth and reality, and unite for the common good, we are facing another deadly civil war. And if it comes it may end in the complete destruction of America the Beautiful.

Commission Purchases Legion Hall

City Commissioners purchased Monday morning the American Legion Hall at 300 16th Street for $2,400 pending final preparations by the city attorney.

Delbert Lowes and Wes Kleinschmidt represented the local American Legion post in offering the building for sale to the city. The price included the building, lot and furnishings. City Manager Paul Davis said the building will be rented out to various civic and social groups for use. He said it will serve the function of a community center.

Davis said a rate schedule will be worked out for the building's use.

The Legion building is a Canyon landmark. It was built in

Hole-In-One For J.T. Hill

J. T. Hill of White Deer struck a "hole-in-one" on number five hole at the Canyon City Club on Tuesday.

Hill, who has been golfing for nine years, was using a number nine McGregor iron and Willson ball. Both companies usually reciprocate with awards for use of their products.

The foursome with Hill included Ronnie Barnes, Mitch Shadix and James Gage.

The modern store has 10,000 square feet of floor space with wide aisles for better customer service.

Clay has announced his intention to remain in Canyon.

He and Mrs. Cooper both have been active in community affairs over the years. Both have served on the Canyon school board and Clay is a past president of Canyon Lions Club.

The eight are C. L. Thompson, H. E. Campfield, Roscoe Davis, Ray McReynolds, Ted Reid, Ray Campbell, Wes Kleinschmidt and Dan Sanders. T. S. Maxwell lives in Arkansas and O. E. Hensley in Kansas.

When it was first organized the post had about 200 members, according to Kleinschmidt who is the current post commander.

"We've had some wonderful times in this building," Kleinschmidt reminisced this week.

He said it has always served as a community building and has been the site of many community dances and parties over the years.

At first there was no fee for use of the building since the post was solvent at the time.

A few years back the building was remodeled and kitchen equipment installed so it could be used for luncheon meetings by Canyon civic clubs.

Registration continues through noon Saturday.

Dr. Donald Cates, registrar, said he does not expect much increase this year.

qualified man." Felix Pierce said the job of tax assessor-collector is two distinctly separate jobs—"one to be in the office and collect and the other to do the appraising."

City Attorney Elton Cox, who accompanied the mayor to the school board meeting last week, told commissioners he feels the board wants to hire a young man to assist Kuykendall in the tax office.

Olsen said a qualified tax assessor "would make his salary."

The tax study committee was to have another meeting this week to discuss again the hiring of a tax assessor-collector.

In other action, commissioners approved a maintenance agreement with the Texas Highway Department and discussed the widening of 26th Street east of the West Texas State University campus.

The commission is to meet again tonight.

Tragedy...

Another son, David, and grandson, Russell, 10, suffered severe injury in an accident near Post while enroute to Canyon for a Mothers Day visit.

David suffered shoulder injuries and fracture of four ribs. The child suffered head injuries and fracture of the collar bone. Both have now been dismissed from the hospital.

D-Day...

"It was so dark you couldn't see a thing," Risner said. "It looked like the 4th of July."

Because of the heavy German fire, the jump formation was broken and paratroopers and gliders were scattered over a 15-mile area from the drop zone.

"The fields were supposed to be dry," Risner said. "But they had little sticks in them and under every stick was a mine."

Risner's glider landed in a road. The enemy was all around.

"We were lost," he said. "We didn't know where we were."

Immediately after disembarking the glider "the guys jumped up with each other and started fighting," Risner said. "Everybody was shooting somebody."

Upon landing in France, Risner and his squad were to reform with their company, but there was no company to reform.

About 50 to 60 men who had landed in the same general vicinity joined together and started heading east toward the original drop zone.

"We just started working our way out," Risner said. "There was no retreat because there was no place to go."

There was no sleep through the night either.

Risner said the Germans appeared to be as scared as the landing forces.

"They were scared. They thought they'd had it," he said. "We were scattered all over France so they thought the whole darned France had been invaded. If they had only known they could have pushed back into the ocean."

The 50 or 60 who Risner was with headed toward a village where a small battle ensued. The Americans took the town, the Germans took it away and the Americans retook it.

"We were losing men all the time," he said. "We couldn't take prisoners because we didn't have anybody to take care of them. But, they didn't take any either."

Risner said he "didn't know what it was all about." He was confused. He was young and it was his first taste of battle.

"But, you learned in a hurry," he said.

On June 6, while the mass invasion of the beachheads was taking place, Risner and his men were regrouping at the original drop zone. It didn't take them long and soon they were following their original mission.

"By that night most of our objectives were taken care of," he said, "but maybe not by the men who were supposed to do them."

It was sometime the next day that troops from the beaches reached Risner and the other men.

The Normandy invasion was over for Risner and he felt lucky. Nine men from his original company went back to England uninjured and alive.

Wheat...

Brazill said dryland wheat, especially in the southeast part of the county, looks good. He said yields of 12 to 15 bushels per acre should be common on dryland this year.

Fields of soybeans, sugar beets and cotton are in average to good condition, according to the county agent.

Brazill says the really bright part of the county's agricultural picture right now is livestock. Prices of livestock and dairy products is strong.

Good rains produced early grass on ranges. A good calf crop is on the ground for cow-calf operators. Feed lots are full and optimism prevails, Brazill said.

Hog producers are receiving higher prices.

Brazill said moisture will be needed during the next two or three weeks to keep crops growing and grass green.

The county agent reports that there will be considerable summer following as producers participate in grain and wheat programs.

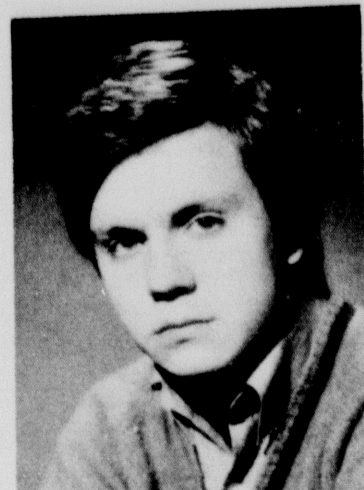

Brazill reports growing change in Randall County agriculture.

"Most Randall County farmers are rapidly moving into an integrated crop and livestock program," he said. "An increasing number of acres is being planted to support stocker and feeder cattle operations. Crops raised for cash sale are being reduced."

ROBERT BARSK

sister, Maria, 12.

Robert will be among 100 students from Scandinavian countries visiting in the United States during the summer months.

Last year, the Waugh's daughter, Patti, participated in the summer exchange program and was a summerhouseguest of Robert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harald Barsk, in Stockholm.

"I met Robert briefly," commented Miss Waugh, "when we went over into Germany and toured several countries. He was in Germany studying last summer."

She, too, complained of the smell from the lake.

She said she put fly bait in her yard to attract the flies, but it did no good.

Jack Crabtree, head of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Inland Fisheries Station here, indicated the flies may actually be a help in the disposing of the dead carp at Buffalo.

"Unless they (the flies) begin to pose a threat to the health of residents in the surrounding area, they're doing a good deed in helping decompose those fish," he said. "The fish will decay much more quickly than they would otherwise."

Crabtree said his department is not responsible for cleaning up the remaining carp after the fish kill.

"We had sort of a gentleman's agreement with Ferguson that he would handle the clean-up," he said.

Stanley McDonough, a parks and wildlife game warden in Randall County, said the fish "are deteriorating pretty quick."

He said Ferguson "may be limited on funds," and therefore unable to adequately dispose of the dead fish.

Ferguson said he and his men have "been working on it (disposal of the deadfish) pretty steady, but we haven't had a large enough force."

The manager said his funds have also run low because this is the end of his fiscal year.

Ferguson said his office "hadn't thought too much about it (fly problem and smell problem)."

He said the fish bodies "have almost decomposed down to nothing anyway."

Ferguson said with the speed in which the fish are deteriorating it wouldn't be long until the flies had no breeding ground and they would die naturally.

He plans to close the lake down tonight and begin spraying from an airplane early Friday.

"We're going to spray the shoreline and along the problem areas and the recreation areas," he said.

Ferguson said after the initial spraying, his men will hand spray particular problem areas throughout the summer.

Until that time, he said, he and his men will continue clearing, by hand, the deadfish along the shoreline.

Microfilming in the county clerk's office was discussed.

Train Wreck Kills Two

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gray of Amarillo. The two were killed Saturday in a train-pickup accident.

A Santa Fe Railway spokesman said the accident occurred at 7:04 p.m. Saturday at the Georgia Street crossing between Haney and Zita sidings in Randall County.

He said the pickup, driven by Gray, who is a switch engineer for the Santa Fe, approached the crossing at a speed of about 15 miles per hour.

The spokesman said the train's engineer, L. P. Landes of Amarillo, said he put on the train's emergency brakes and sounded the whistle. But, apparently the Grays hesitated a moment and then tried to cross in front of the train, he said.

Burial was in Llano Cemetery in Amarillo by Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Directors.

Mr. Gray was treasurer for the Randall County Sheriff's Posse and a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He and his wife were members of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo.

We have sold Cooper's Market to Benny. We think he deserves an opportunity to do something for himself, and we are sure he will carry on the Cooper tradition that has made this business a success for the past thirty-five years.

We know we will miss the routine of going to the store every day and even more we will miss the daily contact with our friends and customers at the store, but we will still be around; we intend to continue to make Canyon our home, because we think it is the best place in the world to live.

The appreciation we feel for the loyalty and support of our many customers is beyond our ability to express in words, but we will try, as we have tried each time we served you by saying "Thank You!"

Sincerely,

Clay and Ermyle Cooper

Teachers Begin Minnemast Workshop

About two dozen area teachers and numerous Canyon public school students began a "Minnemast" workshop at Rex Reeves Elementary School on Wednesday.

The Minnemast program is a coordinated curriculum of kindergarten through first grade mathematics and science and the workshop is being supported at West Texas State University by the National Science Foundation.

Minnesota mathematics and science teaching project (Minnemast) was begun in 1961 and thus far coordinated materials in mathematics and science have been developed through the second grade. These materials have been produced and tested in actual classrooms. Materials for other grades are presently being produced for the program.

Principal objective of the workshop will be for area teachers to learn the methods and philosophy of the Minnemast program which was developed and researched by professors at the University of Minnesota. A few of the more modern and innovative schools in the North and East now have a 100 percent Minnemast program.

Workshop director is Hollis

L. Cook of West Texas State University. Among teachers participating in the workshop are Bryce Slack, assistant principal for Rex Reeves Elementary School, and Luther Lawless, principal for Gene Howe Elementary School.

Sessions involving local students are held from 9 a.m. to 11:30 each morning at Rex Reeves Elementary School with a refreshment break for both students and teachers at 10 a.m.

The workshop, which began Wednesday, will run for 13 days and will conclude on June 20.
